About cookies

What are cookies?

When you visit a website it releases a cookie, which is a track that certifies your visit. Cookies are small text files about the website you are visiting and the computer you are using to navigate, which are stored on your computer by your web browser. This allows you to store your preferences and monitor your activity on the website to show you personalised information the next time you visit it.

For ovalmoney.com, Oval uses the following cookies:

- Cookies that are necessary to run this website (you can't turn these off)
- Cookies that help us showing you relevant ads (you can turn these off, if you prefer)

We ask for your consent to the use of cookies through a pop-up banner when you first visit the website. You're able to manage your preferences on cookies through it.

Necessary cookies

These cookies are used to track use sessions and to carry out other activities that are strictly necessary for properly running the website, i.e. in relation to the website traffic distribution. These cookies help us to recognize users browsing the website and remember their preferences, helping us to avoid placing unwanted analytics and advertising cookies.

You can block or delete these cookies in the settings of your browser, but this may impact on the correct navigation of the website.

Analytics and Advertising cookies

While browsing the website you may store cookies of Third Parties' services, websites and social network platforms. We use these cookies to recognise and calculate the number of visitors to our website and are intended for analytic and marketing purposes, as well as to enable interaction with social networks. They also allow us to display the pages and links you visit to show you the most relevant ads. We may share this data with other organizations, such as Google, Facebook and LinkedIn for the same purposes. If you accept these cookies when visiting our website without changing your preferences you express your consent to their storage.

The cookies we use are listed below:

Cookie	Description	Type
_i18n / _lang	Used to identify the default language of the website visitor	Necessary
_ga	Assigns users a unique visitor number that is recognised when the user returns to the website	Analytics _gid	Collects unique sessions of a visitor on the website	Analytics _gat	Allows to record the number of visitors to a website and the way they navigate through it	Analytics
_utma	Allows to show visitor preferences	Analytics _utmz	Allows to analyse the sources of traffic arriving to the website	Analytics _outbrain	Allows to analyse traffic conversion and show relevant advertising	Advertising
_fbp	Used by Facebook to store and monitor visits on different websites	Advertising

How to manage cookies on your browser

In addition to what is specified in this document, you can manage your cookies preferences directly from your browser and prevent – for example – the installation of analytical and advertising cookies. Through your browser settings you can also delete previously installed cookies, including cookies by this website.

You can find more information about cookie management in your browser at the following links:
